HOME FROM HOME IN EVERGREEN

(Pat and Alan Gill, from England are visiting their daughter, Judy Roberts, a VECA resident, and have given us this wonderful view of Memphis from the eyes of our British cousins. Pat helped sort the E NEWS last month, and for that, we thank her.)

Driving on the right (wrong for us) side of the road isn't too difficult, once we launch ourselves into traffic. We still try to get into the car on the passenger side, though! We do find it different to drive everytime we go out. At home we more often walk to the shops, library, school, etc., for the sheer love of the open air, through the woods and the open countryside and up on to the wild moorland near our home.

We can't get used to unlimited free phone calls. At home we try not to make private calls until after 6 p.m. (cheap rate) and during the day we make our calls as brief as possible since we are charged by the minute.

We have tried to slow down our naturally quick way of walking to a saunter and our naturally quick way of talking to a drawl, y'all.

We love the natural courtesy and friendliness of Memphians. We have enjoyed walking 'round this lovely, tranquil, mid-town area with its tree-lined streets and pretty homes with their front porches and swings, so typically southern.

We have community associations similar to VECA, often involved in trying to protect old houses and buildings in the neighborhood, sponsoring clean-up campaigns, and trying to keep neighborhood schools open.

At home, people go to work, love their homes and

GOOD NEWS!

Since the last issue of the E NEWS, the city has dropped its plans (for the time being, anyway) for the East Parkway Connector. The city had to set priorities for highway construction, and the traffic tangle out east was considered more important. However, if the past is any indication of the future, we have not heard the last of the East Parkway Connector.

Second, VECA wants to create the Vollintine-Evergreen District Plan. There are many reasons to generate such a document, but the most important is that change is inevitable and that the future of the neighborhood is at least partially in our own hands. We have a quality of life in our neighborhood that we must protect; we should seek change without loss and change as improvement. In this town, zoning changes have seldom dealt with the quality of life, yet that should be our main concern. Let's talk about it. I live at 1687 Tutwiler and my phone number is 276-1436. Or, you can write to the E NEWS at 1815 Mignon.

President of VECA

SNOWDEN REUNION

by Lois Fingerett

Snowden School, one of VECA's most imposing landmarks, celebrated its Diamond Jubilee on October 27 with the sparkle that befits a grand old institution.

The school, located at the corner of North Parkway and McLean, was open for tours which emphasized how the 75-year-old building has been adapted to modern education.

Former students, faculty, and staff competed for prizes for most generations of former students, oldest former student, former student who came the greatest distance, and faculty and staff member who served Snowden the longest.

Ms. Ruch's art students commemorated Snowden's history by creating a quilt, which is on display in the elementary school library.

families, enjoy their friends, belong to babysitting co-ops, arrange flowers, and watch TV. We get flat tires and our washing machines break down, and we have days when everything is swinging and days when the bills come due and the kids have been difficult and the dinner has burnt.

Come to think of it, our life in England is not so different from yours here.

VECA CHURCHES

This community is fortunate to have within its boundaries a variety of cultures, nationalities, and religions. Within VECA are a number of religious institutions which encompass a wide range of religious beliefs and practices. We have attempted to survey this community in order to share with our readers the scope of services offered by our local congregations. There are some churches listed which we were unable to get complete information on, but we would like to continually update our files — please advise us of omissions. Also, it was not feasible to include every area of service that is offered by each organization; for specific areas of interest, contact the churches. They will be glad to answer your questions.

The EVERGREEN NEWS would like to keep our community informed about specific programs and functions of our area religious organizations. Call and share your news! Contact Ken or Susan Sanders at 278-2229.

THE PINK PALACE

Halley's Comet, which circles our solar system every 76 years, is due for its first swing through our skies in late November, and will return from its trip around the sun in March of 1986. A Comet Called Halley will be showing from now until November 17, 1985 on Saturdays at 11, 1:30, and 2:45 and Sundays at 1:30, 2:45, and 4.

Halley's Comet will make its next appearance in 2061.

PUDDLEJUMPERS

Four year olds and other pre-kindergarteners will delight in the new program at Lichterman Nature Center at 4992 Quince Road. Elona Charbonnet will guide the children through the world of nature every Monday and Wednesday from 9 a.m. until noon. This is a great opportunity for your children to get to touch, taste, smell, and hear the great outdoors while learning about what they are experiencing from Lichterman's pre-school naturalist.
