The establishment of a permanent office gives VECA a definite place to store records and files for mutual use by VECA members, relieves the inconvenience of the repeated use of members' homes for VECA activities, and provides a physical presence for VECA in the community.

VECA is deeply grateful to the members of Lindsay Church for their hospitality and interest in the community in which their church is located.

NOW, INSURANCE REDLINING?

The Midtown Area has faced many problems in its struggle to maintain attractive and decent neighborhoods. Just a few short years ago, it was difficult to obtain a 30 year mortgage on many homes in the area. Also, renovation loans were difficult, if not impossible, to secure. While these problems have now been solved for the most part, there is now yet another difficulty that concerns not only the VECA area, but all of Midtown.

Recently, some new residents are finding it almost impossible to obtain adequate homeowners insurance. Reasons for refusal may include age of the house, the neighborhood, old and outdated wiring and various other conditions. Some companies may even have a policy of not insuring older homes. In some instances, companies may raise rates on existing policies for the same reasons.

VECA and the Council of Midtown Neighborhoods have become very concerned about this problem. We would like to know how many VECA residents have experienced these types of difficulties with their homeowners policies. If you have had a problem of this nature, call Carl Holmes (278-2746) after 7 p.m. weekday evenings.

VECA NEWS

ELECTIONS of VECA Officers and a vote on proposed Charter amendment changes were postponed until the March 26th meeting.

VECA RECORDS SHOW that civic pride in the V/E area is alive and well. Membership (dues paying members) has more than doubled since September.

NEXT VECA MEETING

Monday, March 26th, 1979, 7:30 P.M., Lindsay Memorial Presbyterian Church. Agenda: Election of Officers and voting on Charter amendment changes.
VECA MEETING RE-CAP

About 20 V/E area residents braved the cold weather on Monday night, January 15th for the neighborhood organization's first meeting of the new year.

Frank Moore announced that Lindsay Memorial Presbyterian Church at 1663 Tutwiler Avenue has welcomed VECA to use a room in the Church as an office. "We are pleased and gratified for the use of the room as office space," Moore stated. "Such an office has been needed for some time."

In other meeting topics of current interest, the Vollintine Courts issue was capsulized by VECA Land Use Committee Chairman Joe Hough who explained that the objectives of the planned VECA court action were to obtain: (A) Rehabilitation and/or (B) Demolition. "However, there are, as Mr. Tom Turley said at the November meeting, no long range objectives other than a resolution of the Vollintine Courts issue," Hough reiterated. (For further information, see Commercial Appeal, January 14th, 1979 — Section E). To make a contribution to the VECA — Vollintine Courts Fund, see the coupon on the last page of E/News.

Ann D. Moore, Co-Editor of The Evergreen News, made an urgent request for aid in the layout, typing, reportage, and distribution of our neighborhood newspaper. "We especially need someone to become Production Co-Editor, that is to handle layout (paste-up) for us — the job simply involves cutting and pasting. It would require three or four hours per month," she explained. Also needed are more typists (with typewriters) and reporters. (For information on how to help, call Ann at 274-2163; or come to any regular E/News staff meeting at 1467 Tutwiler Avenue held at 7:30 p.m. on the first and third Thursdays of each month. Block carriers for the E/News are always needed — call Distribution Manager — Joe Hough at 274-5551).

VECA President Carl Holmes addressed the problem of acquiring insurance for older homes (or unreasonable rate increases) and advised that any V/E area residents confronted with such a situation should call him at 278-2746. "The Council of Midtown Neighborhoods is contemplating negotiations with the State Insurance Commissioner," he reported.

A quorum being present, the membership passed a resolution stating that VECA will hold future meetings on the last Monday in the month. Regular meetings will be held every other month beginning in March. The next meeting will be on March 26th at Lindsay Memorial Presbyterian Church Sanctuary (corner of Tutwiler and Dickinson) at 7:30 p.m. Be sure to attend, see the new office, and bring a friend.

LETTER OF VISION

Dear Friends in the Vollintine-Evergreen Area,

By the time we're all reading this, Christmas will have come and gone, along with the excitement of the holidays, the warm fuzzies of New Year reconciliation, and the clean feeling that always comes with starting fresh. The after-Christmas Sales will probably be over, the remaining merchandise thoroughly picked over, the cream of the crop since having been claimed.

And so I usually feel after the frenzied exhilaration of the holiday season — completely wrung out, used up and picked over, but somehow I will drag myself along to face "business as usual." I call this phenomenon the "February blues."

But, as yet, this all lies ahead of me, for the time now is December. Anticipating the joy of the Christmas Season, I feel a surge of growth, a sense of oneness with my environment. I feel at home, peaceful, even though it is only a few days after the Frutchey murder. Shocking, cold-blooded, cruel — the incident flooded me with a queasy feeling. I felt as if I knew her. In fact, if, somehow, I happen to be a widow, I hope to remain as she must have been: alive, responsive, trying to create the most from her later years. I guess that's why the whole thing hit me so hard. I saw myself in her. I'm only 31 and I'm scared...

And I know I'm not the only one. Even though reason tells me that these horrible things can happen anywhere, I think about how many FOR SALE signs I might see in the weeks ahead. Because typically, there's a whipping boy for fear and distrust, and here it's THE NEIGHBORHOOD. The silent, massive trees, the picturesque houses with the arched doorways, the variegated bricks, the lazy rock porches, the tangy scent of smoldering fireplaces, footprints of an era gone by, a still-living monument to the amazing optimism and creativity of the years that saw its construction. Still present is the spirit of boundless energy, of positive thinking that must have fostered such a monument. Houses that will stand proudly for two more lifetimes... . terracotta drainage systems in the yards, meticulous attention to every detail... I dread that it might be left abandoned and haunted, depleted by the sickening contagion of neurotic fear.

I avert my eyes and my mind from such possibilities because today, December 15, five days after Mrs. Frutchey's murder, I feel strength and hope, because within me lives a dream for our neighborhood. I see a return of positive good times for our area. I see our churches, businesses and schools uplifted in a spirit of hard-working good will. Somehow I view us inhabitants as harbingers of the future, yet a vital link with the past. The gospel writer Matthew once alluded to the wise man being like a "homeowner who takes new and old things out of his storage room" (13:52). I perceive those of us placed here as living symbols of the rich synthesis and dancing coexistence of the new and the old. Blocks and streets getting together for the good of all, schools and churches joining in a spirit of cooperation and openness with their neighbors. I see our neighborhood as a tiny miracle of positive stroking vibrations functioning within a sea of negativism and fear. I see each one of us from every race, from all walks of life, together placing our hands to the plow that will dig the furrow of tomorrow, pushing to the surface rich, fertile soil which will receive the seed of a newly born community.

Barbara McKee
