Councilman Jim Strickland

Councilman Jim Strickland, representing District 5, has high hopes for the neighborhood and continues to support the Vollintine-Evergreen area. As one of the many people who opposed the senior apartment complex in the Vollintine Hills area, Councilman Strickland helped the plan get defeated. Strickland was involved in helping with the Lick Creek flooding problems. He took a tour in October and is working with the city and neighbors to address the flooding. Councilman Strickland is an advocate for neighborhoods, including Vollintine-Evergreen. He is concerned about crime. He supports proper development in neighborhoods. He supports amenities such as parks and the zoo.

"VECA has been one of the strongest and most diverse neighborhoods in the city for a very long time, and I think that if it maintains what it is doing as a community, that it will continue to progress" he adds. As a neighborhood, VECA’s neighbors have been united and work together to reduce crime, he commented. As a neighborhood, he calls on us to continue to be aware of the happenings in the neighborhood and to actively participate in issues that call for neighborhood involvement such as zoning.

Residents Gather for Lawsuit Payout

On Friday, September 5th, more than 30 people lined up outside of the VECA office in anticipation of receiving their settlement check from the Velsicol lawsuit.

Between Friday and Saturday, nearly 200 checks were given out as a result of a settlement in the class action suit—Mildred Isabel et. al. v. Velsicol Chemical Corporation—between residents near Cyprus Creek and Velsicol. The settlement compensated land owners whose property value was significantly diminished due to a multi-decade long action of chemical dumping by Velsicol.

In the lawsuit, which began in 2004, the law firm of Kramer, Horne, Wells and Sheng, PLC represented the citizens. Art Horne, a lawyer from the firm, was present at the check distribution to answer questions and allocate the settlement checks to residents.

Many of the residents seemed relieved to find an end to the four year lawsuit and countless other years of struggle against the corporation. One such resident, Mr. Banks, noted that he was glad to finally receive what the land owners deserved.

The lawsuit began as a result of residents complaining of illness and property damage. Over 200 people were part of the class action suit, and everyone received some form of financial settlement.

The formula for settlement took into account the value of each property and the level of contamination. Checks ranged from $1,500 to $20,000.

Complaints About Public Services?

The City of Memphis has a one-stop shop to receive complaints or requests about city services known as the Mayor’s Citizen Service Center (MCSC).

If you have a concern about garbage not being picked up on your street, vacant properties or lots, perpetual yard sales, loose dogs, faulty streetlights, sanitation issues, or mosquito and rodent control, this is the place to call.

The center also responds to complaints about rooming houses, zoning violations, and conditions in commercial areas.

The Mayor’s Citizen Service Center can be reached at 576-6500. The MCSC does not reveal who has complained, but you can request a letter about the resolution of the compliant.

Unless citizens file complaints about problem services, public agencies will not be able to improve those services.

The funds received have no specified use for the residents; they can be used for cleanup and property improvement, or whatever the recipient desires.

The speed of the lawsuit is likely the result of pressure from the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation, which has been involved in soil testing in the area.

Additionally, the link between Velsicol and the claimants was evident because the lawsuit only took into account property value and did not claim health and other problems as a result of exposure to the chemicals.

City Council Sides with Vollintine Hills & VECA

On Tuesday, September 09, 2008 the proposed Evergreen Senior Apartments were defeated. Over 40 residents of Vollintine Hills and VECA went to City Council for the last hearing on the Evergreen Senior Living Apartments. They were lead by Vollintine Hills resident Eric Jackson.

Councilman Joe Brown and Councilman Jim Strickland were strong leaders in the discussion and asked probing questions to get the important facts. Councilman Jim Strickland took the time to question the Vollintine Hills attorney. This helped the residents explain their concerns about this project. During the meeting, one of the council members noted that this appeared to be an age restricted apartment complex not a senior living facility. Vollintine Hill’s residents were concerned the project was too large and dense for their area. The apartments would effectively change the zoning/land use from single family to multi family.

Martha Jordon, Audrey Larsha, Haymond and Eva Turner, Maynard Jordan, Perletha Thomas, Chuck Scruggs, April Jackson, Dorothy Mells, Sand Elion, Vera Vaughn, Carol Dickens, Johnetta Neal, Rowan Neal, Charlie Folsom, Larry Mells, Bertha Ching, Annie Haynes, Douglas Malone, and Kim Penn and many more Vollintine residents worked hard by attending meetings, writing letters, and calling their council members to voice their concern. This was truly a neighborhood effort.

Mr. Douglas Malone took the initiative to hire an attorney to represent the community at the city’s hearing. The residents helped with the cost of representation.

Eric Jackson lead the group through all the meetings. Mary Wilder helped with mailing and making sure the office was open for meetings. Together Vollintine Hills and VECA kept their neighborhood safe from a dangerous development. City Council overwhelmingly defeated the proposed Planned Unit Development (PUD).

If the council person voted no they voted to defeat the project. Vollintine Hills wanted the project defeated. A yes vote was in support of the project.

For Vollintine Hills and against the project were Jim Strickland, Bill Boyd, Harold Collins, Edmond Ford, Myron Lowery, Shea Flinn, Jack Sammons, and Reid Hedgepath. Voting for the project and against Vollintine Hills were Barbara Swearingen Ware, Wanda Halbert, Janis Fullilove, and Bill Morrison.

Vollintine Hills and VECA would like to thank the council members who voted not to support a 117 unit age restricted apartment complex in the middle of an existing stable, single family neighborhood.

Volunteering

VECA CDC needs neighborhood residents to help with the many tasks that were formerly performed by staff.

These include the following: work on managing the rental houses and apartments, volunteer some hours to help clean up and paint up, volunteer some hours to keep the office open, work on the finance committee, and serve on the board.

To volunteer, call 272-2620

VECA CDC Reorganization

There are many changes taking place in VECA and the VECA board asks for your patience in this time of transition.

VECA remains an active and vibrant community organization—look at the activities in this newsletter. However, the nonprofit arm, VECA CDC, no longer has any staff members. As a result, volunteers are doing the work of the organization and the office is not staffed for regular business.

The VECA and VECA CDC boards have been meeting jointly for six months to work on the transition. More information will be available in future issues of the Vollintine-Evergreen News or at the annual meeting in January 2009.

In the meantime, make a special effort to thank the dedicated board members working on the transition.

On August 25, 2008, Midtown and Vollintine-Evergreen area received an overwhelming amount of rain in about one hour. This led to flooding on streets and residential properties near Lick Creek, including Tutwiler Ave, McLean Blvd, Auburndale St, Hawthorne St and Idlewild St.

What were the reasons for the flooding?

First and foremost, the intensity of the storm in the area surrounding Lick Creek throughout Midtown created immense amounts of water that had to be drained. The result was that water accumulated until the creek could not physically drain this large amount of rainwater. Lick Creek is designed to handle one inch of rain in one hour. According to the measurements taken at Rhodes, our area received two inches in twenty minutes which converts to six times the water the system was designed to handle.

Second, the flooding was historic. Some flooding is normal for this area. However, residents living in the area for 35 years said that this was the most severe flooding in their memory. The V&E Greenline Lick Creek Bridge was built to 100 year flood specifications and the water was near that point. Given the intensity of storms in this time of global warming, severe storms could become repeated events. Yet the flooding was short in duration and was not of the magnitude seen in other parts of the County.

Thirdly, the natural environment of trees and plants, along with open space has the ability to hold some water. The Lick Creek Flood Basin has seen more paving, removal of trees, and an increased number of parking lots. The Zoo, Overton Park, and Overton Square have removed parts of this natural permeable surface without proper flood control mitigation.

The Lick Creek Flood Basin is south to Southern, east to East Parkway, west to Watkins and north to the V&E Greenline. Lick Creek serves as a drainage system for most of midtown east of Watkins.

Fourthly, in the 1930s the Lick Creek system was constructed for draining the capacity of an area with less paved surfaces. Now the Creek cannot be “improved” to increase capacity. Homes are built up to the walls of Lick Creek and would have to be removed to increase capacity or many back yards would be taken for drainage.

Fifthly, the City of Memphis chose to address maintenance issues rather than the flooding problem by doing superficial maintenance work on the Creek in the Vollintine-Evergreen area. Although easier for the City to maintain the creek, this work would not offer a meaningful flood control.

Unfortunately, the Ellers Oakley Chester & Rike City of Memphis study in 2006 deals with flooding mitigation, but does not recognize the flooding problems in Vollintine-Evergreen. The consultant’s report sees flooding as a problem upstream of Overton Park and not downstream in the Vollintine-Evergreen area.

Is there a solution to this problem? Absolutely!

The Lick Creek Drainage Study indicated that the only viable solution to flooding in Midtown is to build retention ponds that can temporarily hold the water until Lick Creek itself can drain the results of large rainfall.

For example, flooding along Cypress Creek is mitigated by a retention pond west of Evergreen St. Lick Creek retention ponds could be built in Overton Park, under the Snowden School football field, and perhaps along Evergreen St on MLGW land.

Some basements flooded from water that came from the sewer system, and the City needs to inform VECA if the sanitary sewer and storm sewer systems are somehow commingled.

Finally, there may be actions that homeowners can take. These include sump pumps, gutters, and enclosures around basement windows.

What are the next steps? See page 6.
VECA State Representative Ms. Jeannie Richardson was the featured speaker for the monthly meeting of the Safety and Security Committee of VECA. She is the tenth such speaker for the year.

She reported personally becoming very interested in crime activity due to increased crime in her VECA residential block. She is taking the first step.

She encouraged the committee to continue its campaign of safety and security. She introduced two City of Memphis officials. One was a designer of Cyberwatch, the electronic crime abatement program developed by the Memphis Police Department. It is available to any one owning a PC. The other was a public defense attorney who represents criminal defendants in court.

Ms. Richardson stated she is prepared to initiate legislation to reduce crime in VECA as well as statewide.

Program 545-COPS (545-2677) into your cell phone—it is the quickest way to contact the police.
- Look up and down alleys every day as you walk, bike, or drive by.
- Immediately report suspicious activity to the police.
- Don’t leave intriguing items visible in your car. Stow it, don’t show it!
- Lock your doors when you are in your yard.
- Discourage walk-up workers by never hiring them – Hire folks recommended by your neighbors.
- Use porch and other outdoor lights at night. Lights and motion detectors can help with security AND save energy.
- Don’t look like a victim. Keep your head up, be alert, and make eye contact.

This information was provided by the Evergreen Historic District Association.

VECA is asking for the following actions to reduce flooding in Vollintine Evergreen.

There are three departments in city government that have an input into the decisions affecting Lick Creek and flooding issues. The Public Works Division has Storm Water and Drain Maintenance departments. The City Engineering Division carries out the recommendations coming from the Division of Public Works. The Public Works Division studies the problems and is responsible for solutions, while City Engineers are the builders.

VECA is asking for a new consultant’s study for the area from Overton Park to Watkins (especially focusing on Tutwiler Ave from McLean Blvd to Auburndale St). The consultants need to contact residents who encountered flooding, and then provide new data reflecting actual conditions and problems.

The result should be a plan which discusses retention ponds that create meaningful flood control.

The City also needs to be more vigilant in the planning process by requiring developers to replace permeable space when they remove it for paving or construction. For example, the new 150 unit student housing on North Parkway could further contribute to flooding issues if proper planning is not done.

VECA: Vollintine Evergreen Community Association

VECA is a neighborhood organization made up of volunteers and paying members. The Vollintine-Evergreen News is the way in which VECA communicates with its residents, and businesses and government policies. VECA is bounded by Watkins on the West, Cypress Creek on the North, Springdale on the East, and North Parkway on the South.

Contact VECA by writing to 1680 Jackson Ave, Memphis, TN 38107 or call (901) 276-1782. You can also visit our website www.veca-neighborhood.org
On August 25, 2008, areas of Memphis received an overwhelming amount of rain in a short time. This led to high water (and some urban and basement flooding) in neighborhoods near Lick Creek. This picture shows the rushing water under the V&E Greenline’s Lick Creek Bridge. It is approximately 15 feet above normal. Avery Coonin is in this photo.
